wellspring

"The world judges the gospel, which is the heart of the word of God, by the character of the people who believe and claim to be transformed by it." John MacArthur